

Portfolio Media. Inc. | 111 West 19th Street, 5th Floor | New York, NY 10011 | www.law360.com
Phone: +1 646 783 7100 | Fax: +1 646 783 7161 | customerservice@law360.com

Law360's 2021 Aerospace & Defense Editorial Advisory Board

Law360 (March 19, 2021, 10:16 PM EDT) -- Law360 is pleased to announce the formation of its 2021 Aerospace & Defense Editorial Advisory Board.

The editorial advisory board provides feedback on Law360's coverage and expert insight on how best to shape future coverage.

The members of Law360's 2021 Aerospace & Defense Editorial Advisory Board are:

Douglas Baruch, Morgan Lewis & Bockius LLP

Doug Baruch is a litigation partner at Morgan Lewis & Bockius and is a leader of the firm's False Claims Act practice. Doug has extensive experience representing aerospace and defense companies in civil fraud enforcement matters, ranging from inspector general investigations to FCA litigation.

Joseph Berger, Thompson Hine LLP

Joseph R. Berger is counsel at Thompson Hine. He has extensive experience representing government contractors in bid protests, litigation, investigations and FCA matters, and in defense contracting, compliance and regulatory matters. Berger is a graduate of Columbia Law School and former law clerk at the U.S. Court of Federal Claims.

Jeffrey P. Bialos, Eversheds Sutherland

Eversheds Sutherland partner Jeff Bialos is co-head of the firm's aerospace, defense and security practice, and brings deep experience advising clients on complex business decisions and transactions, complex regulatory requirements, antitrust, trade and investment, and procurement. He previously served as the deputy under secretary of defense for industrial affairs.

Jon W. Burd, Wiley Rein LLP

Jon Burd, a partner in Wiley's government contracts practice, handles complex government contracts disputes involving challenging technical issues related to weapons system, aerospace and intelligence programs. He represents defense industry leaders, among other clients, advising on litigation and transactional work in government contracts, including those involving classified programs.

Kara L. Daniels, Arnold & Porter

Kara L. Daniels co-leads Arnold & Porter's aerospace, defense and national security industry team. Her wide-ranging government contracts and national security practice focuses on bid protests, contract disputes and claims, internal investigations of alleged misconduct and fraud, and counseling on other diverse government contracts compliance issues.

Sarah Kahn, DLA Piper

Sarah Kahn is the co-chair of DLA Piper's aerospace, defense and government services transactional practice. She focuses on mergers and acquisitions of both private and public companies, including manufacturers, technology developers and service providers, with special experience in mergers and acquisitions for clients in international aerospace, defense and government services.

Lisa Norrett Himes, Rogers Joseph O'Donnell PC

Lisa Norrett Himes is of counsel at Rogers Joseph O'Donnell PC. She has represented aerospace and defense companies for over 22 years, handling cutting-edge cases involving issues such as the government contractor defense, federal officer removal and the political question doctrine, as well as other government contracts and litigation matters.

Todd R. Steggerda, McGuireWoods LLP

Todd Steggerda chairs McGuireWoods' government investigations and white collar litigation department and leads the firm's government contracts practice group. A former Navy pilot with an aerospace engineering degree, Steggerda leads a broad range of defense and national security-related investigations and regulatory enforcement matters for aerospace and defense firms.

Matthew Woods, Robins Kaplan LLP

Matthew Woods has developed a robust practice focusing on the intersection of intellectual property law and antitrust law. As both trial counsel and business counselor, he has directed clients in ways to protect and leverage their patents, trademarks, brands, and trade secrets consistent with the guidelines of antitrust law.

Gail Zirkelbach, Crowell & Moring LLC

Gail Zirkelbach is a partner in Crowell & Moring's government contracts and investigations groups. Zirkelbach's practice focuses on internal investigations involving procurement fraud, defending fraud actions, and counseling aerospace and technology companies and operators of U.S. Department of Energy laboratories in all government contracts and compliance areas at the federal, state and local levels.